At all stages of the economic cycle companies, businesses and individuals will invariably face difficulties and issues for which specialist advice should be sought.

The key to success in times of trouble is to seek professional advice sooner rather than later as this can increase the options available.

About Kingsland

Kingsland Business Recovery is an established and reputable specialist professional services organisation, providing independent professional advice and solutions to businesses in the area of restructuring and insolvency.

Our expertise covers all industry sectors and all sizes of business and has helped many companies and individuals throughout the England and Wales. Our aim is to add value and optimise the financial outcome for directors and business stakeholders. Our Partners and staff have many years experience in helping both individuals and businesses to resolve their financial problems.

The success has resulted from the quality, commitment and hard work of our people.

Why work with us?

- We have a long standing reputation for working in partnership with independent Professional Practices in resolving financial problems for their clients.
- We are no threat to your practice as we only specialise in Business Restructuring and Insolvency.
- All cases and projects undertaken are partner led, ensuring your client will be given professional advice all the time.
- We listen to what your client wants and their concerns.
- Liquidation isn't the only option that might be open to your client. We will discuss non-insolvency options with the clients too.

“ I would like to thank you for the business advice you have given over the last few years... as well as providing advice and information on dealing with some of our clients who unfortunately went into liquidation.

Mr Zulhaish Ali

Birmingham based restaurant owner whose business we placed into liquidation.

Restructuring

Our team of restructuring specialists have an established track record in helping businesses address the operational and financial challenges that hinder corporate performance. With a genuine commitment to the health of businesses, we work closely with directors, board members, management, lenders and other stakeholders to create strategic restructuring solutions that have an immediate positive impact and will develop a sound basis for future trading.

Depending on the difficulties you are experiencing, there are a range of options we can undertake to get the business back on track. Our restructuring services are tailored to the requirements of individual clients and these include...

- Diagnostic Business Review
- Cash management
- Database of interim turnaround managers
- Solvent reconstructions
- Profit and cash improvement
- Accelerated M&A advice
- Realisation of assets
- Restructuring advice

Where we can help...

There are many situations where Kingsland can add value, including:

- When a business is underperforming or not maximising its potential.
- When stakeholders are seeking to realise value by way of an exit or disposal.
- When management need assistance to stabilise a business to enable a preliminary action plan to be drafted.
- When stakeholders are seeking to prepare robust operational plans and financial forecasts to underpin a restructuring exercise.

“ The service you provide is invaluable and so worthwhile. You should all sleep very well at nights, with the certain knowledge that you are helping so many people at a time of crisis. ”

Richard Mack

Director of a bed factory in Leeds whom we assisted with a CVA.

Corporate Insolvency

Sometimes circumstances dictate that restructuring simply is not a viable option for a distressed company: cash-flow pressures may have become unmanageable or it may be too late to put into effect any restructuring strategies.

There may be many other reasons why a formal insolvency procedure may be the appropriate option.

Where we do recommend formal insolvency proceedings, we will fully explain the range of possible options – outlining which we think is right for you and your business and for those affected by its business circumstances.

Despite a formal insolvency procedure it may in certain circumstances be possible for the directors to be involved in running the business through a new company in the future and it is the duty of the Insolvency Practitioner to obtain the best solution for creditors. This duty may be compatible, in some circumstances, with the management's desire to buy back the business from insolvency.

Where we can help...

Our team of insolvency specialists will review your business and put forward their expert opinion on which option is right for that business. These include...

Insolvency

- Administration
- Administrative Receivership
- Company Voluntary Arrangements
- Compulsory Liquidation
- Creditors' Voluntary Liquidation
- Fixed Charge Receivership / LPA Receivership

Solvent Liquidations

- Members' Voluntary Liquidation

Sole Traders, Partnerships & Individuals

If you are a sole trader, in a partnership or facing personal financial difficulties, then our team of personal insolvency specialists can provide timely and invaluable support to help them stabilise their financial situation.

There are a number of solutions available for you that can provide a practical, workable solution to debt problems. Obviously, which solution is best depends on their personal circumstances – and as your adviser, your first course of action is to call us as soon as possible when you realise they are getting into financial difficulties. The sooner we are involved, the more options we will have to secure a workable financial solution.

Where we can help...

Our team of professionals can advise on:

- Individual Voluntary Arrangements
- Partnership Voluntary Arrangements
- Bankruptcy
- Negotiating terms with creditors

“ Throughout the consultation, I have found Kingsland to be professional & effective ensuring my business survives the current downturn and moves forward in a positive manner. I have no reservations in recommending them to anyone.

Mark Louth

A Hull based builder who we assisted with an IVA.
